Raising Funds for Education

Highland Education Foundation is hosting the second annual Trivia Night to raise money for enhancements and innovations in the classroom. The event will take place at The Room, located at 8353 Indianapolis Boulevard in Highland, starting at 6 p.m. on April 21.

The event welcomes everyone over the age of 21 and is being sponsored by Regional Federal Credit Union. Food, pop, draft beer and select wines will be provided. There will be teams of eight at the event, but if you have less than eight you can join other participants to form a team. The cost per person is $30, but if you wanted to reserve an entire table it is $225.

Last year's event sold out and HEF raised close to $5000 with the help of the participants and other community contributions that was used to award grants last fall. The proceeds from the event will continue to go toward future grants that give Highland teachers the ability to enhance the learning experiences for students

"The best part of the even was seeing how the community at large along with educators and administrators come together and support public education," said Judi Caddick, president of HEF.

All reservations must be made by April 19. There will be no tickets sold at the door. If you are interested in reserving a table or have questions, please contact HEF at hefevents@gmail.com. You may also contact Caddick for further questions at 219-923-7621.

The Highland Education Foundation is a non-profit organization that was established to foster and facilitate excellence in teaching and to enhance the learning experience of the students.

Cancer Survivor Gives Back to Kids

PNW student Amanda Knight hopes to use her experiences from battling leukemia to encourage other children who are in similar journeys as their child life specialist.

"The main reason I want to be a child life specialist is because of my night nurse Stacy," said Knight. "When Stacy shared that she had leukemia as a little girl, I woke up completely. It was such a relief to hear that there is hope of making it past all the treatment."

Knight will never forget the moment when the doctors delivered the news to her parents that she had leukemia in May 2011.

"Both of my parent's faces went extremely white. They looked like ghosts," said Knight. "To see my parents that way was one of the most heartbreaking moments of the entire journey."

Knight was involved in sports during high school. She loved volleyball and it was at a volleyball practice where she first ran into unexpected health issues.

"I was playing volleyball and I was abnormally out of breath," said Knight. "I finished the practice, but I remember telling my mom that I felt like I was going to faint. It felt like the flu symptoms times 10."

The next day, Knight's pediatric physician sent her family to Riley Children's Hospital to get further testing. When she was diagnosed with leukemia, Knight started chemotherapy and radiation treatment that day as part of a clinical trial.

"You never think your child is going to have cancer," said Knight's mom, Lisa Knight. "She was a vibrant 15-year-old who was full of energy and slowly she became frail and weak. Losing strength and her hair, Amanda grew in faith where she lost her health."

A week after one cycle of treatment, Knight was in remission. As exciting as that news may sound to a cancer patient, she still had to go through two and a half years of treatment.

"One of the most difficult things during treatment was seeing myself look different," said Knight. "I went through a lot of physical changes. I lost all my hair and I lost a lot of weight. Seeing myself in the mirror, I remember thinking that I didn't know who that was and that who I saw wasn't really me."

Knight was receiving treatment every week after being diagnosed. Nearly two years later, Knight received her last treatment in August 2013 and remains in remission.

Currently, Knight is in her last year at Purdue University Northwest pursuing her undergraduate degree in human development and family studies. She plans to attend graduate school to receive a master's degree as a child life specialist.

The Northwest Indiana Cancer Kids Foundation offered Knight the opportunity for a summer internship in 2017. The Knight family has had many personal ties with the NICK Foundation being one of their families that the NICK Foundation supports.

"Amanda was one of the first survivors to receive our Jonathon Milstead Memorial scholarships when she began college," said Donna Criner, executive director of the NICK Foundation. "Since then, Amanda has become a valuable part of the NICK Foundation. She is always our beautiful 'Elsa' at our kid friendly events."

To volunteer, donate or receive more information about the NICK Foundation visit nwickcancerkids.org. The NICK Foundation is non-profit pediatric cancer organization founded in 2009.

Out of Place Farm Houses

Have you ever noticed what appear to be "large farm houses" right in the middle of well-established subdivisions? Well, these are the original homes of the farm families that were built long before the subdivisions were ever dreamed about. A great example of this are the houses of the Zachau family in South Hammond.

John F. Zachau (5-19-1821/9-20-1905) and his wife Johanna (2-4-1828/9-13-1899) came to the United States in 1851 from Prussia/Germany, meeting up with his older brother August who had already settled in Chicago. John, was well educated and had managed a large estate in Germany, but at 30 years old and no farming to do in Chicago and a very disappointed wife, he opened a furniture shop and earned a living as a cabinet maker. Finally, in the late 1860's, the Zachau's left Chicago for the German hotbed of Hammond, meeting up with their close friends Ernest & Caroline Hohman. John Zachau purchased 60 acres in the current "Kenwood school area", located north of 165th Street, (then called Standard Ave.-the major east/west road leading to Illinois) and from Hohman west to the State line. They grew grain & hay which was in high demand for the horses and kept a good portion of the land as an apple orchard. He built a large frame house in the location of the current Moraine & Wildwood Streets.

(Wildwood was originally called "Zachau Road" and the current Kenwood Street, was the "Old Ridge Road" running just north of the future Oak Hill Cemetery). As the city expanded, he sold that acreage to developers and bought open land in the current "Edison School neighborhood", which is south from 165th to 173rd, and from the Monon Rail Road yard east to Calumet Ave. The large Zachau farm house was moved to overlook his new property and still stands at 539 Florence Street. In the early 1940's, son George had built the large farm house at 7031 Jackson, son Gustav built the large house at 6948 Madison and son John had a beautiful sprawling ranch house at 6610 Harrison. As the housing boom in the late 1940's took off in this area of South Hammond, more of the Zachau siblings were building their own new homes. Norman built next to his father at 7035 Jackson and Melvin a few blocks away at 7216 Monroe.

These "out of place farm houses" scattered throughout the once flourishing farm communities of South Hammond, Munster and Lansing, give testament to the long-ago farm families who are still keeping their presence known to us today.

Adopt-a-Pet with ReStores

Come help your local shelter and rescue pets find their furever homes at the sixth annual Adopt-a-Pet Event at ReStore. Both ReStores, located in Griffith and Merrillville will be hosting this special event 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on April 28.

The dogs and cats available for adoption are from multiple rescues and shelters around northwest Indiana. Bella's House and Second Chance 4 Pets Network will be attending the event at the Griffith location while pets from Treasured Friends, Lake Shore Paws, and Humane Society of Hobart can be viewed and adopted at the Merrillville location.

ReStore District Manager Kim DeRisi came up with the idea for this event six years ago. She has always had a special place in her heart for animals of all kinds.

"I'm an animal lover," said DeRisi. "I have horses, cats, and a dog and although we don't sell a lot of pet supplies, a lot of our customers have animals."

DeRisi thought hosting an event that would benefit the animals would be a way to give them a chance to be adopted.

"These animals don't have a voice. We need to help them get adopted and this event is a way for us to be that voice for them," said

DeRisi.

Last year, Merrillville ReStore's former Manager, Lauren Igartua adopted her family dog, a blue heeler named Freckles.

"Once I saw her good nature, I knew that if I didn't rescue her now, I would regret this. She was a perfect fit for me. She was everything I wanted from a dog," said Igartua.

This event could be the perfect opportunity for potential adoptive families to find the perfect fit for them and for the public.

"Last year's event turned out perfectly! We had a great turn out. The public loved the event and they got to see different, unique, and cute animals," said Igartua.

In addition to the pet adoption, the adoption centers will present information on pet nutrition and care. The attendees can receive 50 percent off of one store item and can be also be entered into a raffle to win prizes such as cat and dog themed gift baskets.

Both stores will be accepting pet supply donations for the event. If you would like to donate items stop by the store or call (219) 972-3000. Visit the ReStores at www.nwirestore.org for any other questions."

NiSource Boosts Training at Purdue

Purdue University Northwest (PNW) and PNW's Center for Innovation through Visualization and Simulation (CIVS) are excited to announce a $100,000 grant from NiSource Inc., the parent company of NIPSCO and Columbia Gas companies. The grant furthers innovative, student-engaged research and education in the area of first responder and workplace safety.

"NiSource's generosity amplifies educational and research opportunities for our students, while also helping communities and companies to be safer and more productive," said PNW Dean of Engineering and Sciences Kenneth Holford. The grant enhances the relationship between PNW and the electric and natural gas utility.

As a leader in solving real-world issues through virtual simulation and visualization technologies, CIVS will use the grant to improve training to help employees and first responders safely visualize and simulate the kind of work they'll be doing in the field.

"Virtual reality training gets employees' hearts pumping and mimics what they'll see in real life; more than what classroom learning offers alone," said Dave Monte, NiSource Senior Vice President, Safety, Environmental, Engineering and Training. "I'm excited to work more closely with Purdue University Northwest and its students, and that we have this expertise and technology access right here in Northwest Indiana."

CIVS Director Chenn Zhou, Ph.D., graciously welcomed the support.

"Our interactions and collaborations with NiSource and NIPSCO professionals have always been very perceptive and forward-looking," Zhou said. "Our past successes paved the way for our continuing collaboration. Moving forward, this grant greatly increases our capacity to make greater economic and educational impacts together, while at the same time making people safer."

West Side Story Comes to BNI

“West Side Story” is a triumphant legend where love transcends language, time and place.

Bishop Noll Institute’s Drama Department will present this popular musical April 20 to 22, 28 and 29. Performances are at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights and at 2 p.m. Sundays. The show runs approximately 2 hours and 30 minutes including one 15 minute intermission. Tickets can be bought at the door in the lobby. While Manhattan’s west side rumbles with the clash of Jets and Sharks, Maria and Tony seek “a somewhere” their romance can thrive. In their revolutionary work that changed the course of the American musical, Leonard Bernstein, Stephen Sondheim and Arthur Laurents bring their award-winning genius to the immortal retelling of the story of star-crossed lovers caught in a turf war of rival ethnic gangs.

West Side Story features Noll seniors Mireya Melero and Spencer Spudic as Maria and Tony, freshman Armando Chavez as Bernardo, sophomore Michael Fugger as Riff, junior Sophia Becker-Toro as Anita, and freshman Natalie Casares as Doc.

Bishop Noll Institute’s production is directed and choreographed by Michael Carioto, drama director, with musical direction by David Herr. The pit band is conducted by Rocco Carioto.

Hear beautiful renditions of “Somewhere,” “One Hand, One Heart,” and “Tonight.” Join the Jets in “Gee, Officer Krupke” and “Jets Song” and the Sharks in their fun and exciting interpretation of “America.”

Hammond PD's Coffee with a Cop

On April 25th, officers from Hammond Police Department and community members will come together in an informal, neutral space to discuss community issues, build relationships, and drink coffee.

All community members are invited to attend. The event begins at 5:00pm to 7:00pm at Schoop's Hamburgers, 7235 Indianapolis Blvd. Please contact Sgt. Scott Holbrook with questions: (219)852-6376.

Coffee with a Cop provides a unique opportunity for community members to ask questions and learn more about the department's work in Hammond's neighborhoods.

The majority of contacts law enforcement has with the public happen during emergencies, or emotional situations. Those situations are not always the most effective times for relationship building with the community, and some community members may feel that officers are unapproachable on the street. Coffee with a Cop breaks down barriers and allows for a relaxed, one-on-one interaction.

“We hope that community members will feel comfortable to ask questions, bring concerns, or simply get to know our officers,” said Captain Alcox Hammond Police Department. “These interactions are the foundation of community partnerships.”

Coffee with a Cop is a national initiative supported by The United States Department of Justice, Office of Community Oriented Policing Services. Similar events are being held across the county, as local police departments strive to make lasting connections with the communities they serve.

The program aims to advance the practice of community policing through improving relationships between police officers and community members one cup of coffee at a time.
