Boys & Girls Clubs Hires Two Directors of Social and Emotional Wellness

Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Northwest Indiana has added to its professional family by hiring two Directors of Social and Emotional Wellness, Angela Swelfer and Johnnett Roby. This is a new position for the organization as they look to expand their services.

Though Angela and Johnnett were hired from outside the organization, they both boast long careers in social work. For Johnnett, her passion for social services has spanned across nearly two decades. Having received her Masters of Social Work from Indiana University Northwest, Johnnett went on to gain 19 years of experience in social services. Angela also received her Masters of Social Work from Indiana University Northwest. She later went on to continue her career through multiple capacities of social work, serving youth within our community in a variety of ways, including support services within public schools. "We are very excited to add Angela and Johnnett to our administrative staff," Ellis Dumas, Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Northwest Indiana's Vice President of Programs and Outcomes, said. "We recognize how truly valuable their combined experience can be for this organization, and I'm looking forward to the seeing the positive impact they can have on our families."

The new position, Director(s) of Social and Emotional Wellness, has a wide variety of responsibilities as both Directors will work within Clubs to facilitate Social, Emotional and Wellness (SEW) learning. This trauma-informed care fosters a positive foundation upon which members can learn about themselves and others in a safe, nurturing environment through focusing on the development of self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, relationship skills, and responsible decision-making skills.

In Indiana, it is reported that 21% of children under 18 reported having experienced two or more adverse experiences, compared to 18% nationally according the Indiana Youth Institute. Couple this with the fact that more than one quarter (26%) of Indiana's children (ages 3-17) have one or more emotional, behavioral, or developmental conditions compared to 22% nationally, the need for youth mental and emotional intervention is apparent.

Bishop Noll invites alumni, friends to annual golf outing

Bishop Noll alumni and friends enjoy a past golf outing at Innsbrook Country Club. Shown are Eric Roldan, BNI '12; Matthew Sandoval, BNI '13; Chris McCormack; David Bock; and Nick Skurka, BNI '12

Registration is currently open for the Bishop Noll Institute golf outing, which will benefit student scholars. This year's outing will take place July 18 at Innsbrook Country Club in Merrillville.

Tickets to the outing can be purchased online at bnigolf22.givesmart.com. Fees are $200 per golfer or $800 per foursome. Tickets include lunch, golf and cart, drinks on the course, dinners and prizes.

Guests may attend dinner only for $60. A reduced fee of $100 is available for young alums, those who graduated from BNI in 2012 or later. Registration is open until July 13.

Sponsorship opportunities are available: $100 to sponsor a young alum, $175 to be a hole sponsor, $800 to sponsor beverages on the course, $800 to sponsor lunch and $1,500 to sponsor dinner, cocktail hour or player gifts.

Prizes that can be used for basket raffles are also much appreciated.

Pete Doherty, Bishop Noll class of 1971 and a golf outing committee member, said the event started in the 1990s as a fundraiser to support scholarships.

"The whole event is first class," he said. Alumni should gather old friends and make the event a mini reunion and even those without a foursome, should mark their calendars. The committee will put groups together. "A lot of friendships have been started that way," Doherty said. "The golf outing rallies a lot of support for the school going forward. The day includes school updates from a Noll administrator and school administration and staff members volunteer and participate."

For more information on sponsorships or registration, contact Juli Sandoval at jsandoval@bishopnoll.org or (219) 932-9058, ext. 1005.

Re-dedication of Windrich Park at Jacobs Square

Named for a local war hero killed in the Korean War, the park is located near the city's downtown at 5553 Claude Ave., between the Second and Third council districts. Local officials are touting the park as a means of boosting the neighborhood and spurring continued area revitalization. Marine Staff Sgt. William G. Windrich died Dec. 1, 1950, while leading his platoon into action near Yudam-ni, Korea. Despite suffering head and leg injuries, Windrich fought and returned for the wounded. The Hammond resident received the Congressional Medal of Honor on Feb. 8, 1952, for "valiant leadership, fortitude, and courageous fighting spirit."

The park includes a Kompan playground and a swing set, both on a cushion-like surface, along with a covered area with tables and seating

First African American graduate of West Point

Henry Ossian Flipper, born into slavery in Thomasville, Georgia, in 1856, becomes the first African American cadet to graduate from the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York on June 14, 1877.

The United States Military Academy—the first military school in America—was founded by Congress in 1802 for the purpose of educating and training young men in the theory and practice of military science. Established at West Point, New York, the U.S. Military Academy is often simply known as West Point.

In 1870, the first African American cadet, James Webster Smith, was admitted to West Point but never reached the graduation ceremonies. It was not until 1877 that Henry Ossian Flipper became the first Black cadet to graduate.

Flipper was born to enslaved parents but came of age in Atlanta during Reconstruction. He was educated at American Missionary Association schools and Atlanta University (now Clark Atlanta University). In 1873, he was appointed to West Point. As he later wrote in his 1878 autobiography, The Colored Cadet at West Point, he was socially ostracized by white peers and professors during his four years there.

After graduation, Flipper was appointed to serve as second lieutenant in the all-African American 10th Cavalry and stationed at Fort Sill in Oklahoma. The Ninth and 10th Cavalry were regiments of Black enlisted men who became known as the Buffalo Soldiers.

While at Fort Sill, Flipper negotiated with local Native American tribes and supervised several engineering projects, including the building of roads and telegraph lines. A drainage system he designed became known as “Flipper’s Ditch” and is listed as a National Historic Landmark.

In 1881, he was accused of stealing over $3,000 in commissary funds and relieved of duty. Though a court-martial found him not guilty of embezzlement, he was dishonorably discharged for “unbecoming conduct” in 1882.

Flipper went on to a distinguished career as a civilian engineer and surveyor, and later served in Washington, D.C. as a consultant on Mexican relations. Flipper maintained his innocence throughout his later years and fought to clear his name. He died on May 3, 1940, in Atlanta, Georgia.

In 1976, the Army upgraded his discharge to honorable. And in 1999, President Bill Clinton granted Flipper a posthumous pardon, saying, “Henry Flipper did all his country asked him to do.”

The Names: 19 Children, 2 Teachers Killed in Uvalde School

As the United States lamented the nation’s latest mass school shooting, in which a gunman killed 19 children and two adults after storming into an elementary school in Uvalde, Texas. A law enforcement official said all victims were in the same fourth-grade classroom.

Nineteen children were looking forward to a summer filled with Girl Scouts and soccer and video games. Two teachers were closing out a school year that they started with joy and that had held such promise. They’re the 21 people who were killed Tuesday when an 18-year-old gunman barricaded himself in a fourth-grade classroom at Robb Elementary School in the southwestern Texas town of Uvalde. Some families have been willing to share their stories with The Associated Press and other media. Others asked for privacy.

One of the 10-year-olds aspired to be a lawyer someday. Another loved video games and anything with wheels.

And another was saving up for a trip to Disney World.

Purdue University Northwest to honor David A. Roberts as first PNW Alumni Hall of Fame inductee

Purdue University Northwest (PNW) will honor David A. Roberts, retired chairman of Carlisle Companies and a 1974 graduate of PNW, as the first inductee to the PNW Alumni Hall of Fame.

Purdue University Northwest (PNW) has selected David A. Roberts as the first honoree to the university's new PNW Alumni Hall of Fame.

Roberts, a 1974 graduate, will be inducted into the Alumni Hall of Fame during PNW's Roaring Ahead Scholarship Gala on June 10. The gala event for nearly 600 people at the Hard Rock Casino Northern Indiana is the culmination of PNW's yearlong 5-75 Roaring Ahead anniversary celebration of the fifth year of Purdue Northwest, and the 75th year of its legacy institutions, Purdue Calumet and Purdue North Central. Proceeds from the gala will go toward scholarships for PNW students.

PNW is establishing the Alumni Hall of Fame to honor alumni who are high-achieving leaders in their fields, involved members of their community, and those who have engaged with PNW well beyond their time as students. The university plans to issue a callout for nominations and induct a class into the Hall of Fame annually.

"Dave Roberts epitomizes the many ways alumni carry on PNW's mission to transform students' lives and our metropolitan region. He achieved great success in his career and he champions the advancement of education, technology and manufacturing jobs," stated PNW Chancellor Thomas L. Keon. "The nomination process demonstrated the expansive impact of PNW alumni in their work and in their communities. We are proud to recognize Dave for his accomplishments, which show current students just how far their aspirations can take them."

Roberts has been instrumental in supporting STEM education at PNW and developments that benefit the greater Northwest Indiana community. He recently committed $3 million to establish the PNW Impact Lab, which will provide opportunities for economic development, fostering innovation and entrepreneurship. His significant support led to the establishment of the David Roberts Center for Innovation and Design near the PNW campus in Hammond, which offers students a location to work as interdisciplinary teams within various engineering technology fields. He also provided significant support for PNW's Commercialization and Manufacturing Excellence Center (CMEC) and has established faculty and student internships as well as employment opportunities.

During his extensive career, Roberts held engineering, manufacturing, management and leadership roles across a variety of industries including automotive, office equipment, printing and management services. He retired in 2020 as CEO and chairman of the board of Carlisle Companies in Charlotte, N.C., a publicly held leading supplier of innovative building products and energy-efficient solutions to create sustainable buildings.

A Marine Corps veteran and native of Steger, Illinois, he earned his bachelor's degree in Technology with distinction from the PNW Hammond campus, and his MBA from Indiana University.

"I am overwhelmed by the honor being bestowed on me by the leadership team of Purdue Northwest. When I graduated nearly 50 years ago, I had no idea how many doors my Purdue Northwest and Indiana University educations would open for me," Roberts said. "I began my working career first as a tool and die apprentice and then as welder before joining the Marine Corps. When I was honorably discharged from the Corps, I realized that I could put the leadership skills that the Marines taught me to use in industry but knew I needed a formal education.

"Purdue Northwest's reputation for a quality education was ideal, and its location allowed me to attend school full-time while holding a full-time job," he added. "The decision to attend Purdue Northwest was one of the best decisions of my life. It has been a fantastic ride for a blue-collar kid from Steger, Illinois."

Roberts was selected from among many talented alumni who were nominated by fellow alumni, PNW faculty and staff, and community members. A selection committee reviewed all nominations based on individuals' leadership in their fields, community involvement and engagement with the university.

PNW will issue the next callout for nominees to its Alumni Hall of Fame in fall 2022.
