Hammond Education Foundation Announces College Scholarship Applications are Open

The Hammond Education Foundation (HEF) is excited to announce that their 2023-2024 college scholarship applications are open through December 16, 2022. The Hammond Education Foundation Scholarship Fund was established to assist graduating seniors from the School City of Hammond with some of the costs associated with the first year of post-secondary education. With the generosity of our donors, HEF is able to fund scholarships valued at $1,000 to $2,500 to students.

For the 2022-2023 academic year, seventeen School City of Hammond graduates were awarded scholarships from the Hammond Education Foundation. These scholarships included the Mark Biel Memorial Scholarships, the Draskovich-Brundidge Scholarships, the Hammond Education Foundation Legacy Scholarship, the James Hornak Memorial Scholarship, and the Dr. Gary Jones Memorial Scholarship.

New in 2023-2024 is the Keltner Future Teacher Scholarship which offers up to $10,000 per year, for four consecutive years, to a graduate of a Hammond public high school to help a future teacher enter today's most rewarding, critical, and challenging profession. The recipient must attend full-time at an accredited college or university, major in education and maintain a 2.5 or higher grade point average. While not a requirement, upon completion of the undergraduate program, the graduate is encouraged to teach in an Indiana public school. Other terms and conditions may apply.

The Keltner Future Teacher Scholarship is funded by Jess & Margie Keltner retired School City of Hammond administrators and teachers to encourage the continuation of the teaching profession.

Scholarship applications are available by visiting the Hammond Education Foundation website at www.hammondeducationfoundation.org.

The Hammond Education Foundation is a 501(c)(3) not-for-profit organization and philanthropic partner of the School City of Hammond. Since its origin in 1983, the foundation has generated more than $1.8 million in scholarships, classroom grants, programs and other support for extraordinary learning experiences and opportunities to help Hammond students succeed—in school and beyond.

NIPSCO & the NiSource Charitable Foundation Donates $50,000

to bring Medically Tailored Meals to Northwest Indiana through Meals on Wheels

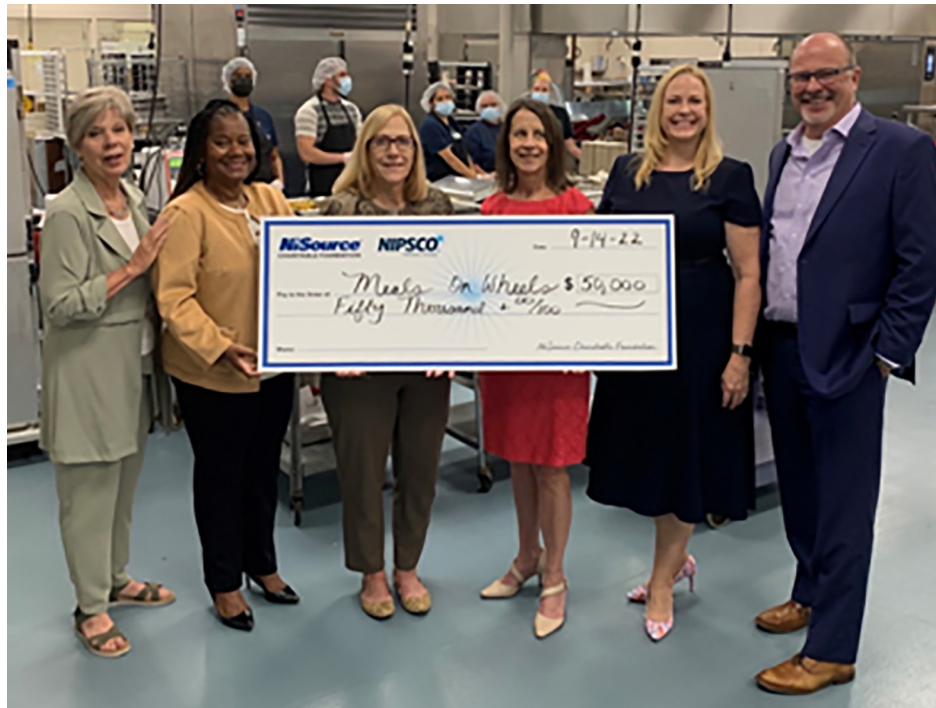

NIPSCO and the NiSource Charitable Foundation supports Meals on Wheels of Northwest Indiana through a $50,000 donation. This donation will go towards the implementation and growth of the Meals on Wheels of Northwest Indiana Medically Tailored Meals Intervention. This intervention improves the health of critically and chronically ill individuals.

Medically Tailored Meals are meals approved by a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (RDN) that reflect appropriate dietary therapy. These diets are recommended through a nutritional assessment and a referral by a health care provider to address a medical diagnosis, symptoms, allergies, medication management and side effects to ensure the best possible nutrition-related health outcomes.

“We are grateful to partners like NIPSCO and the NiSource Charitable Foundation who understand the importance of social determinants of health and make the wellbeing of their customers a priority,” said Sandra Noe, Executive Director Meals on Wheels of Northwest Indiana.

Meals on Wheels of Northwest Indiana recently completed a one-year accelerator program through the National Food Is Medicine Coalition, providing them the foundation to establish and grow this necessary, evidenced based solution for Northwest Indiana. Studies prove this intervention has a 28% reduction in health care costs and 50% fewer hospital admissions for patients who received medically tailored meals. “At NiSource, improving the health and wellbeing of communities where we live and work is a priority,” said Rick Calinski, Director of Public Affairs & Economic Development for NIPSCO. “Because of our collaborative work with community partners, like Meals on Wheels of Northwest Indiana, we are

The mission of Meals on Wheels of Northwest Indiana (MOWNWI) is to deliver nutrition to those in need with the support of volunteers and partners. Funding for meals is nightly at the fabled Continental Baths, a gay bathhouse/cabaret in the basement of the Ansonia building on West 72nd Street in Manhattan. It was there, in collaboration with a young pianist named Barry Manilow, that she fully developed

Bette Midler is born in Honolulu, Hawaii

By the time she appeared as the final guest of Johnny Carson's 30-year career on The Tonight Show and brought tears to the unflappable host's eyes with an emotional performance of "One For My Baby (And One More For The Road)," she was an established star of stage and screen—a Tony winner, an Oscar nominee, a Grammy winner and a multimillion-selling recording artist. It would be difficult, however, to imagine a more unorthodox path to mainstream stardom than the one followed by Bette Midler—"The Divine Miss M"—who was born in Honolulu, Hawaii, on December 1, 1945.

Equal parts Judy Garland and Ethel Merman, Bette Midler early on set her sights on making it in New York City. Arriving in New York in 1965, Midler soon tried out for the national touring company of Fiddler On The Roof only to land the role of Tzeitel (and the job of singing "Matchmaker" eight times a week) in the Broadway production instead. After several years of singing in various Manhattan nightclubs on the side, she got what would prove to be the most important gig of her career, singing poolside her "Divine Miss M" stage persona—a brash, campy interpreter of numbers ranging from "Chattanooga Choo Choo" and "Leader Of The Pack" to "Superstar" and "Delta Dawn." It was at the Continental Baths that Atlantic Records chief Ahmet Ertegun discovered Midler and signed her to record the album that made her a star: The Divine Miss M (1972). That album, which made an unlikely pop hit out of "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy" (Billboard #8, June 1973), earned Midler the Best New Artist award at the 1973 Grammy Awards.

Though she would remain a beloved favorite of a significant fan base over the next decade or so, her only pop hit during that period was the theme song from the 1979 movie The Rose. In 1986, however, her flagging Hollywood career was revived by a comic turn in Paul Mazursky's Down And Out In Beverly Hills. Two years later, she would earn a Record of the Year Grammy and her first and only #1 pop hit with "Wind Beneath My Wings," from the 1988 movie Beaches, in which Midler co-starred alongside Barbara Hershey.

Holiday Depression

Holidays are supposed to be a time of joy and celebration, but for some people they are anything but.

Depression may occur at any time of the year, but the stress and anxiety during the months of November and December may cause even those who are usually content to experience loneliness and a lack of fulfillment.

Why Is Depression So Common During the Holidays?

There are several reasons why you may develop depression during the holidays:

Social Isolation

Social isolation is one of the biggest predictors of depression, especially during the holidays.

Some people may have a small social circle or a lack of opportunities for socialization. People who have feelings of disconnectedness often avoid social interactions at holiday time. Unfortunately, withdrawing often makes the feelings of loneliness and symptoms of depression worse.

These individuals may see other people spending time with friends and family, and ask themselves, "Why can't that be me?" or "Why is everyone else so much happier than I am?"

One of the best ways to deal with social isolation is to reach out to friends or family for support. You can also try talking to a therapist. They can help you figure out where your feelings come from and develop solutions to overcome them.

Grieving During the Holidays

Some people may be keenly aware of the loss of a loved one during the holiday season. Here are several ways to stave off the holiday blues that may descend at this time:

Begin a New Tradition

Try planning a family outing or vacation, instead of spending the holidays at home.

Don't Give In to Holiday Pressures

Feel free to leave an event if you aren't comfortable. Be willing to tell others, "I'm not up for this right now."

Volunteer

Helping others can also be very helpful for you, too. For example, you might try:

- working at a soup kitchen
- organizing a gift drive
- helping your neighbor with a yard or house task

Red Cross Response in 2022

2022 has been a year of crisis for families and communities — from extreme climate disasters to global emergencies like the conflict in Ukraine to the first-ever national American Red Cross blood crisis.

“This year’s crises overwhelmed the most vulnerable, who have relied on generous support to cope with dire needs,” American Red Cross President & CEO Gail J. McGovern said. “It takes all of us to help ensure no one faces an emergency alone, whether it’s felt by millions of people or a single person. Join us during the holidays to give hope to those in need facing future crises by making a financial donation or a lifesaving donation of blood. Your support makes all the difference.”

Responding to Extreme Climate-Driven Disasters This year’s extreme disasters in the U.S. are clear examples of the increasing frequency and intensity of the climate crisis — which continues to disproportionately affect the most vulnerable, especially those already struggling to pay the bills and dealing with health and disability needs.

Red Cross volunteers have worked 24/7 to deliver shelter, food and care for tens of thousands of disasters across the country this year, including 15 billion-dollar disasters — more than twice the number that struck annually just two decades ago.

What’s more, while Red Cross emergency shelters are meant to be temporary, some shelters have operated for over a month to help people in need. A lack of affordable housing is driving this demand for shelter following disasters such as Hurricane Ian, severe floods in Kentucky and wildfires out West — where Red Cross volunteers responded non-stop for six months to ongoing blazes. Across the country, volunteers have also secured a safe place for people to stay after home fires, which comprise most Red Cross annual disaster responses.

Helping Millions affected by Global Emergencies Internationally, the conflict in Ukraine has forced millions of people to flee for their lives. With such vast needs, the American Red Cross has provided financial donations and international crisis responders to support the global Red Cross network’s response on the ground, which spans more than a dozen neighboring countries to deliver food, shelter, medical care, emotional support and other critical aid for displaced families. Meanwhile, the American Red Cross has also provided financial support to the ongoing hunger crisis in Africa. Overall this year, as part of the world’s largest humanitarian network, the American Red Cross has provided humanitarian aid in more than 108 countries, including water sanitation programs in Guatemala and the delivery of relief supplies in the Philippines.

Overcoming the First-ever Red Cross Blood Crisis In January 2022, the Red Cross experienced its worst national blood shortage in over a decade, due to ongoing collection challenges and varied hospital demand during the pandemic. Patients in need of lifesaving blood transfusions relied on an outpouring of support from hundreds of thousands of generous blood donors to overcome the crisis.

Beyond national headlines, the need for blood is constant, as one in seven patients entering a hospital will need a blood transfusion. Every day, Red Cross blood donors are the lifeline for car accident victims, parents with complicated childbirths, individuals battling cancer and people with sickle cell disease.

No Rules Riders Motorcycle Riding Club Knuckleheads 8th Annual Christmas Give Back

I am reaching out to ask for your support for this year's "Christmas Give Back" for Hammond families in need of a helping hand. This is our 8th year of spreading some Christmas Cheer in Hammond. We will be reaching out to Hammond Schools for recommendations of families that are struggling. We feel teachers see our communities children most and can help identify children in need. From there we reach out to the parents and find out what each child's need and want is. It could be a winter jacket and a microscope or boots and legos. Each child is different. We try to fulfill these for each child in the family and also pass along a small gift card to the parents to get anything else the family may need to make the holiday bright! In the past donors have donated monetarily as well as toys, and grocery or gas gift cards. This year we are proud to be working with Hessville Commerce and Community Creative (HCB), The Tattoo Lady and Hammond District 6 Councilman Scott Rakos, and would love your support!
