GOLF WITH A PURPOSE ON JUNE 12

Catholic Charities Diocese of Gary is having its 41st Annual Golf Outing on Monday, June 12 at Innsbrook Country Club – The first Golf Outing of the season for Innsbrook!. Registration opens at 9:30 am with shotgun start at 11:45 am. This is one of two annual events for Catholic Charities with proceeds supporting the many programs and services providing life-changing and emergency services to struggling individuals and families in Lake, Porter, LaPorte and Starke Counties in Northwest Indiana. There are still spots to be filled for golfers and sponsors, as well auction items needed. Visit Catholic-Charities.org to learn more and to register.

Recently, Catholic Charities Community Outreach team was contacted by a nonprofit partner to ask us to assist an elderly and disabled woman with preventing her and her grandchildren from being evicted from their home. Having full custody of her grandchildren, the woman had recently lost her husband and his income that was needed to help pay the bills. Because of her disability and without her husband to help, the woman was unable to navigate managing the household budget, paying the bills and contacting collection agencies. Thanks to our generous donors, we were able to clear the woman's delinquent payments and avoid eviction. Working with our nonprofit partners, we were able to connect her and her grandchildren with family members who will be relocating them closer to help her with raising the children and managing the day-to-day tasks.

This is just one recent example of how the support of individuals, businesses, civic groups, faith communities and others help to rescue families from tragic circumstances and guides them on the path toward a brighter future.

This is what YOU help Catholic Charities to do by supporting our June 12 Golf Outing as a golfer, sponsor or donor.

Visit Catholic-Charities.org to learn more about our programs and services, as well as to support the good work helping your neighbors in need in Northwest Indiana.

Please direct all inquiries or requests to...

PNW's Nursing, Business graduate programs recognized by U.S. News and World Report

Two of Purdue University Northwest's (PNW) graduate programs were recognized in U.S. News & World Report's 2023-24 Best Graduate Programs rankings, released Tuesday, April 25.

PNW's Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) degree, offered by the College of Nursing, was ranked No. 100 nationally in the Best Nursing Master's Programs category. PNW's MSN offers advanced nursing practices and clinical training to gain additional skills and qualifications for the healthcare field, such as its Family Nurse Practitioner and Adult-Gerontology Clinical Nurse Specialist concentrations.

"Our position in the rankings represents the excellent faculty that we have in the College of Nursing," says Lisa Hopp, dean of the College of Nursing at PNW. "They are doctorally prepared, have impressive clinical backgrounds and are expert teachers and coaches. They bring a world of expertise to the classroom to make a real difference. They prepare advanced practice nurses, nurse educators and nurse executives at a time when healthcare desperately needs these types of providers and leaders in nursing. PNW College of Nursing faculty are preparing them magnificently."

PNW's online MSN was also recognized in January in U.S. News' 2023 Best Online Programs rankings.

More information on PNW's nursing programs can be found at pnw.edu/nursing.

PNW's Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree, offered by the College of Business, was also ranked nationally in the Best Parttime MBA Programs category. PNW's MBA provides students a rigorous curriculum and flexible scheduling, including evening classes, to increase students' earning potential and leadership skills with an advanced degree.

"The business world is rapidly changing, and our MBA program prepares the next generation of leaders to be future-ready and adaptable," says Rachel Clapp Smith, Teddy

Jacobi Dean of the College of Business PNW. "Our at program is designed to teach students to use business for good. to address societies biggest challenges, and the ranking is a testament to the success of our alumni in making a difference in their communities and organizations. Our faculty bring a portfolio of evidence-based research and real-world knowledge to create engaging and immersive learning experiences."

More information on PNW's business programs can be found at pnw.edu/business.

2023-24 Best Nursing Master's Programs

U.S. News surveys nursing schools' master's programs accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education or the Accreditation Commission for Education in Nursing. Master's programs were ranked on several indicators, including faculty resources, research activity, quality assessment, student selectivity, and master's program size.

PNW's MSN program ranked 100 with a score of 54. You can view the full list at usnews.com.

2023-24 Best Part-time MBA Programs

U.S. News surveys business schools accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. Part-time MBA programs were ranked based on five indicators: peer assessment score; part-time student ratio; part-time student total; GMAT/ GRE scores; undergraduate GPA; and work experience.

PNW's MBA program ranked 184 with a score of 35. You can view the full list at usnews.com.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY JUNE 1, 1980 CNN launches

On June 1, 1980, CNN (Cable News Network), the world's first 24-hour television news network, makes its debut. The network signed on from its headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia, with a lead story about the attempted assassination of civil rights leader Vernon Jordan. CNN went on to change the notion that news could only be reported at fixed times throughout the day. At the time of CNN's launch, TV news was dominated by three major networks—ABC, CBS and NBC—and their nightly 30-minute broadcasts.

CNN was the brainchild of Robert "Ted" Turner, a colorful, outspoken businessman dubbed the "Mouth of the South." Turner was born on November 19, 1938, in Cincinnati, Ohio, and as a child moved with his family to Georgia, where his father ran a successful billboard advertising company. After his father died by suicide in 1963, Turner took over the business and expanded it. In 1970, he bought a failing Atlanta TV station that broadcast old movies and network reruns and within a few years Turner had transformed it into a "superstation," a concept he pioneered, in which the station was beamed by satellite into homes across the country. Turner later bought the Atlanta Braves baseball team and the Atlanta Hawks basketball team and aired their games on his network, TBS (Turner Broadcasting System). In 1977, Turner gained international fame when he sailed his yacht to victory in the prestigious America's Cup race.

In its first years of operation, CNN lost money and was ridiculed as the Chicken Noodle Network. However, Turner continued to invest in building up the network's news bureaus around the world and in 1983, he bought Satellite News Channel, owned in part by ABC, and thereby eliminated CNN's main competitor. CNN eventually came to be known for covering live events around the world as they happened, often beating the major networks to the punch. The network gained significant traction with its live coverage of the Persian Gulf War in 1991 and the network's audience grew along with the increasing popularity of cable television during the 1990s and well into the 21st century.

The Society of Professional Journalists (SPJ) awarded Lakeshore Public Media radio reporter, Michael Gallenberger, first place in the "Radio Breaking News Coverage" category for his reporting on the Franciscan's Hammond ER Shutdown at the recent.

"In a state with so many amazing journalists and during a year with so many big stories, it's an honor to be recognized. As a lifelong resident of Northwest Indiana, my job lets me do what I love in my own community," said Gallenberger. "An important part of public media is working directly for our listeners and viewers. It's great to be part of a team (Lakeshore) that values that."

The Indiana Chapter of SPJ recognized Gallenberger for his outstanding contributions in reporting events of public importance.

"Michael works tirelessly to stay on top of what's happening every day. Because of that, listeners are often getting the latest news and information found nowhere else on the radio," Lakeshore Public Media's Vice President of Radio Operation, Tom Maloney, said. "His first place award for "Radio Breaking News Coverage" highlights what our listeners already know: he's a dedicated journalist who puts listeners in Northwest Indiana first."

Gallenberger first became affiliated with Lakeshore Public Media as an intern in 2013 and transitioned to full-time host in 2021. He reports for the Northwest Indiana nonprofit public broadcasting station, located in Merrillville, during the "All Things Considered" broadcast which airs Monday through Friday from 3-6 p.m. on the Lakeshore Public Media's radio broadcast. Gallenberger's reporting can be heard around the Region on 89.1 FM or online at LakeshorePublicMedia.org.

Gallenberger has garnered other awards throughout his career in broadcasting for his coverage of Northwest Indiana. During his time at WKVI in Knox, he received recognition from the Indiana Broadcasters Association during their Spectrum Awards. He was a finalist for the Spectrum Award in 2019 in "Local Impact Reporting" in Radio Market 2. In 2021, Gallenberger won the Indiana Broadcasters Association Spectrum Award for his 2020 Election Coverage.

"I hope my reporting gives people a chance to hear directly from their local leaders and others shaping their communities. I hope this greater understanding helps start the conversations that will take our communities into the future," Gallenberger said.

Protect Your Heart in the Heat

Whatever brings you outside — a bike ride with friends, a jog in the park or just a stroll around the block — it's important to stay safe when the temperature rises.

Tips for heart patients:

If you're a heart patient, older than 50 or overweight, you might need to take special precautions in the heat, according to Gerald Fletcher, M.D., professor of medicine at the Mayo Clinic, in Jacksonville, Fla.

Check with your healthcare professional before starting an exercise routine if you are experiencing symptoms or have a specific medical question or chronic disease. Certain heart medications like beta blockers, ace receptor blockers, ace inhibitors, calcium channel blockers and diuretics (which deplete the body of sodium) can exaggerate the body's response to heat, Fletcher said.

But Fletcher points out that it's important to keep taking your medications —and taking them when you're supposed to.

Even if they're not on medications, older people also need to take precautions in the heat.

"If you're older than 50, you may not be aware that you're thirsty," Fletcher said. "If you're going to be outside, it's important to drink water even if you don't think you need it."

Tips for everyone:

Think you're ready to brave the heat? Watch the clock and buddy up, Fletcher said. It's best to avoid the outdoors in the early afternoon (about noon to 3 p.m.) because the sun is usually at its strongest, putting you at higher risk for heatrelated illnesses.

If you can, exercise with a friend, because it's safer — and more fun — to have someone at your side. Here are some other tips:

- Get off on the right foot. You probably sweat the most in your shoes, so choose well-ventilated shoes and look for socks that repel perspiration. Foot powders and antiperspirants can also help with sweat.
- Dress for the heat. Wear lightweight, light-colored clothing in breathable fabrics such as cotton, or a synthetic fabric that repels sweat. Add a hat and/or sunglasses.
- Drink up. Before you get started, apply a waterresistant sunscreen with at least SPF 15, and reapply it every two hours. Stay hydrated by drinking a few cups of water before, during and after your exercise. Avoid caffeinated or alcoholic beverages.

• Take regular breaks. Find some shade or a cool place, stop for a few minutes, hydrate and start again.

Whatever you do, don't throw in the towel, Fletcher said. "Don't NOT exercise — adapt!"

Symptoms of heat exhaustion:

- Headaches
- Cool, moist skin
- Dizziness and lightheadedness
- Weakness
- Nausea and vomiting
- Dark urine

If you experience these symptoms, move to a cooler place, stop exercising and cool down immediately by using cool wet cloths, compresses, and fanning. You may need to seek medical attention.

Symptoms of heat stroke:

The symptoms of heat stroke include (call 911 or the local emergency number right away):

- Fever (temperature above 104 °F)
- Irrational behavior
- Extreme confusion
- Dry, hot, and red skin
- Rapid, shallow breathing
- Rapid, weak pulse
- Seizures
- Unconsciousness

If you experience these symptoms, seek medical attention right away.
